Cooperative Purchasing

Sourcewell creates national cooperative contract purchasing solutions on behalf of its member agencies. Cooperative contracts offer both time and money savings for users by consolidating the efforts of numerous individually prepared solicitations into one national, cooperatively shared process—taking advantage of the aggregation of volume from members nationwide.

Sourcewell's creation was authorized by Minnesota law as an Educational Service Cooperative Unit, Independent School District #924, to serve education, government, and nonprofit entities with solutions, as outlined in Minn. Stat. 123A.21, subd. 7, which are more efficiently delivered cooperatively than by each entity individually. As a service cooperative, Sourcewell is a governmental unit of the State of Minnesota, all Sourcewell employees are government employees.

Sourcewell is governed by an eight-member board made up of county commissioners, city councilmembers, mayors, or school board members.

How it Works

Cooperative purchasing is procurement conducted by, or on behalf of, one or more governmental units for use by other governmental units.

Sourcewell is committed to serving member agencies by researching common needs and solutions. The result is an opportunity to purchase the very best products, equipment, and services through nationally solicited contracts.

Competitive Procurement Process

Sourcewell's procurement process is continuously being refined to meet the changing needs of our members. Sourcewell's process is completed in accordance with Minnesota law. Sourcewell determined the use of an RFP benefits members more than the use of an Invitation for Bid (IFB). The use of an RFP allows vendors to decrease pricing based on volume.

Sourcewell follows a procurement process that includes:

Identify member needs and research solutions

Sourcewell identifies areas of need through daily member interactions and advisory committees, and then researches the best approach for each offering.

Board of directors approves proposed solicitations

Draft and publicize solicitations by advertising Requests for Proposals (RFPs) in various print newspapers nationwide and on multiple websites

Pre-proposal conferences followed by receipt of sealed responses

Evaluate responses

Evaluation begins at the proposal opening by determining the responsiveness of each proposal. The final evaluation is conducted using the scoring criteria defined in the RFP.

Recommendation to Chief Procurement Officer (CPO)

Award vendors

Upon approval by the CPO, the recommended vendor is awarded a four-year contract term with the potential for an additional one-year extension at the discretion of Sourcewell. Members have the ability to propose supplemental terms and conditions to the Sourcewell contract to meet their local requirements.

Posting and reviewing approved contract documents

A complete procurement file is maintained by Sourcewell, and contract documentation is posted on our website for review by our members. Our procurement specialists periodically review documentation for compliance and effectiveness. Sourcewell considers price and product change requests based on contract terms.
