

Building:

- the top shelf of the curved stack in Teens was installed; the Carnegie doors hooked up to key card system
- the architects are visiting about noise, glare from the sun, and creating a better separation of space with the children's desk area and the Hello Desk
- RFID is on track; staff and volunteers tagged the collection in much less time than expected; now staff is busily tagging the returns; the self-checks show up in July and the automated materials handler will be installed in August

Staff:

- getting through the tagging project was huge; many thanks to Denise Butcher for her commitment to this project. She has been going to once a month meetings for over a year to work with the other libraries and to come up with an organizational model for OC. Also many thanks to the volunteers who helped
- final Summer Reading program prep in May

Stats:

- again door count was over twice as much as it used to be and another month of over 30K
- our circulation is barely over what we did this same time last year, although the electronic check-outs are quite a bit higher this year
- the number of books we are receiving from other libraries is starting to go down and the amount we are sending to other libraries is starting to go up
- the number of programs we are offering and number of attendees is still very high
- the patron registrations is down a bit but still very high compared to old library
- our volunteer hours is really getting much higher
- we've been adding a lot more items

Programs:

- May the 4th be with you was a huge success; we think about 580 people
- we have been having lots of adult programs, with varied success
- there was a break in Children's programming but this will be relaunched with Touch a Truck on June 19
